Little Willie Dammann got into the game again yesterday afternoon, after a lay-off of a few weeks, and managed, with the assistance of Heydon at first base in place of Motz, who was spiked Tuesday, and a number of other earnest Hoosiers, to get away with the game.

as one held at the Propylaeum, when some highborn lady, fresh from the metropolis, is the guest of honor and the feminine half of us Hoosiers is feeling its utter inferiority and trying to conceal it under an air of careless elegance. A white basting thread in a new suit never stuck out more plainly or aggressively than did the foredoomed defeat of the Indians after the Detroiters had secured one run in the first inning and had given the hosts a large; yet not particularly relishable goose egg in return. Even when the score was tied in the second inning there were those of doubting disposition, inherited from ancestors who used to take on their annual dose of malaria and third-day ague about this time of year, who just couldn't see anything in sight for the home team but a lingering dissolution, with Cronin the cause of it all. About the first thing that happened was Barrett getting hit by Dammann and taking first in consequence, whence an out by Schrall and two hits by Dungan and Dil-lard scored him. Kahoe scored in the seccond inning. After driving a hit to center he was followed by Dammann, who made a center-field drive good for three bases without any assistance by the scorers. Two men were out and Hogriever, who adjusted the tension of his batting arm entirely too slack, went out from Haggerty to Slater. The Hoosiers took the lead in the fourth. With two men out and Kahoe and Dammann on bases Flynn hit to center and scored Kahoe, Dammann going out at the plate. The lead was taken away in the next inning by Dillard, when Ryan batted him in with a single. Dammann batted in Stewart and Hickey in the sixth and another run was made in the seventh by Heydon, a base on balls and a wild throw by Cronin, followed by McFarland's hit getting him in. Great groans of agony went up in the game of July 24, which was prevented ninth inning as the Canuck infielder was let get to first by Hickey's excited throw, to play the three extra games. and Uncle Slater followed a little later with a three-bagger and Ryan with a double, scoring two runs. Willie Dammann's face took on an expression such as must have adorned the first man who made up his mind to have a tooth pulled, and the second imported contract laborer, Haggerty, came to the bat. The discussion was brief, but brilliant. At the end Sheridan's voice, sweet and low as the mellow whisperings of the spring zephyr down the chimney in March, called "strike three."

BOSTON, Aug. 17.-The visiting L. A. W. wheelmen spent another enjoyable day with tours in and out of the city, racing at Charles River Park and a grand smoker this evening in Mechanics' Hall that attracted a tremendous crowd and was greatly appreciated. Over four thousand of the members have registered at headquarters and a large number of the visitors renewed their membership or joined the league. The racing, of course, was the special event of the day, but the address of President Keenen to the local consuls in the morning was certainly one of the principal features and his announcement that Tom Linton, who made a new hour record this week, had come back to the L. A. W. from the N. C. A. proved a genuine sensation. The pleasant weather that has prevailed all through the week continued to-day and the members of the L. A. W. were able to follow the runs scheduled and attend the races under most favorable conditions. Railroad Passes for Judges.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: It was with great pleasure that I read your article in to-day's Journal regarding the action of Judge Beeman in returning to the railroad companies all the passes he had received as gratuities at their hands, and the reason he gives therefor. It seems to me certain that no railroad company donates $100 worth of transportation to any man unless because of some favor received or expected to be, received at the hands of such men, be he judge or other officer. It certainly is the expectation of the donor, in such cases, that the donee will reciprocate at some point or place; and while I do not like to be put on record as stating or believing that judges, as a class, will intentionally favor the donor in any litigation that may come before his court, yet I believe, whether purposely or insensibly, an officer receiving such favors will, if he possesses in any degree one of the finest traits of manhoodgratitude-be influenced by the benefit, courtesy and kindness shown him and in some way will testify to his appreciation of the act of the railroad company. If a man should tender the use of his fine tean and carriage to a neighbor, under circumstances where the tender would be a great benefit and convenience to the neighbor, and were the neighbor to accept the use of the team and carriage, would it be expected, between the two, that if circumstancs should occur where the neighbor would have an opportunity, at a later period, of making a like tender where it was needed, that the neighbor would fail or neglect to embrace the occasion to reciprocate? It would seem not, if the neighbor was possessed in a fair degree of kind and generous feelings. For myself, after a long practice of the law, I can safely say that I have never tried a case, in any court, against a railroad without feeling great uneasiness if I knew, or had reason to believe, that the judge carried a free pass, issued by the railroad, as was stated in the article referred to,

What would our judges say of a miller, who had cases pending in court, and whose business was such that he had a great deal of litigation in the court, should the miller on the 1st January send to the house of the judge a year's supply of flour for his family? It is clear that the purpose of the railroad in giving free passes to the judges of our courts is not to show courtesy to a man who has attained the dignity of that station, or else after the term of the judge had expired and he had gone from the bench !

would be continued. In the article alluded to you say nothing about the judges of the Supreme or Appellate courts. It would seeem that the object to be attained by the railroads in giving free passes is just as unfair in giving passes to the judges of the Su-preme and Appellate courts as it is to give them to the judges of the circuit courts. I, for one believe that the acceptance by judges upon the bench of passes from the railroads ought to be broken up, even if it requires an act of the Legislature making the accepting of a pass from a railroad by a judge ground for suspension and removal from office. All honor to Judge Beeman! I could wish that all of the judges of the State would adopt his view and follow his practice. I always have been and always will be opposed to anything which has the appearance of an attempt to unduly influence the official acts of the judges of HENRY C. DODGE. Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 16. AMUSEMENTS. PARK-TO-DAY-2 p.m. Al. W. Martin's Mammoth Production of
